

SHORYU

This time Shoryu took to Great Eastern Street Shoreditch, another successful project involving Blenheim Design, Leon Jaeggi Group and Alpollo Air.

There was plenty of enabling/general construction works to be done prior to the business end of the programme with structural steel installed to allow for a new staircase and supporting blockwork walls housing a micro-lift system.

Particularly interesting features included in the restaurant were: the Chelsea yellow brick slip walls; A honed mazano stone clad bar and a “saki” box display feature; 300 saki boxes fixed through steel uprights secured to the walls behind the fixed seating illuminated with LED strip lighting and some beautiful red wood tables and leaner bars.
